The performance will be held at Greater Harrisburg Youth for Christ, 1000 S. Eisenhower Boulevard, ¼ mile north of the Turnpike Administration building.

World War II was finally over. Peace spread to the four corners of the world. Optimism returned to the States, and big bands played loudly to prove it. Our boys started coming home to swing the women they loved around the dance floor with new steps like the jitterbug. December 31, 1945 was the first post-war New Year's Eve. America had decided that it was time to celebrate!

1946 – Murder at Midnight captures the excitement of the era. The USO, telecasting a live performance around the globe, is giving their final salute to the men in uniform who served so bravely against the Nazis and Japs. Famous Hollywood celebrities Bill Crooner, Ron Joy, Tess Talent and Betty Bombshell have been united to sing the 40s jazz and big band standards we all know and love. A company of singer/dancers will show off the increasingly popular swing and fox trot steps in large musical numbers.

Woven into the performance will be a radio drama with a lot of humor, a little bit of melodrama, and of course a murder. In the midnight hour, the actors realize that someone really has been mysteriously murdered. Who did it? And why? Nearly everyone has a motive. Only the audience will hold all the clues to decoding this fun, original, interactive murder mystery which is perfect for New Year's Eve.

Greater Harrisburg Youth for Christ, the parent organization of The Eternity Players' ministry, is an intra-denominational, para-church outreach to the students and young adults of the mid-state. Youth for Christ has been in existence for over 45 years and The Eternity Players have maintained a reputation for quality, Christian theater for nearly 40 years.
